

بي حرت Karibu ikaze benvenuti Welcome አንኳን ደህና መጡ Bienvenue

Welcome to this “Daily Tail” and the AgriKnowledge ShareFair on “Enhancing Food and Nutrition Security in the Horn of Africa”

The DailyTail gives a snapshot of the sessions, discussions and other activities happening this week. We hope it will remind you of the various activities and help you track down anything – or anyone – you may have missed. We welcome your contributions, comments and ideas; look out for anyone from the editorial team – reporting, blogging, and taking pictures – or contact the ‘fair’ secretariat.

This week, we welcome participating ministries, farmers organizations, UN agencies, development partners and non-state actors to this event organized by the FAO Sub regional Office for Eastern Africa and many partners.

The ‘fair’ will focus on a series of ‘focus discussions’ guided by the priorities of the subregion. Day one also features a plenary on scaling up and effectiveness as well as lively open spaces and panel sessions.

In this issue, we spotlight interviews and a roundup of vital information on the program. መልካም ስብሰባ!

Highlights

...

Find out about impact and scaling up - after morning coffee

Don't miss the culinary program. Try:

- Fresh Ethiopian goat meat
- Smoked Tilapia
- Great Ethiopian honey
- Traditional Ethiopian coffee

At our ‘merkato’

Tombola raffle grand draw Thursday morning after coffee.

Reception Wednesday night (at FAO)

‘Mesheta’ Thursday night (at ILRI Zebu club)

Building resilience in the Horn of Africa

Robson Mutandi, Ethiopia country representative for the International Fund for Agricultural Development (IFAD) tells us we should be better prepared for recurring drought. We need to have policy makers and practitioners design long term solutions. We also need to work with the communities on the ground to draw from their experiences.

Robson truly hopes this ShareFair will bring together different players and actors to draw lessons and experience, critically pick out the things that worked and could be upscale - not forgetting those that didn't.

Sharing lessons shouldn't just mean the successes; we must also share failures so we don't fall in the same pitfalls again.

Bienvenue!

Tous les chemins mènent à l'Ethiopie... L'Afrique de l'Est converge vers le campus du Centre International pour la Recherche sur l'Elevage (ILRI), pour partager les connaissances, pratiques, technologies et innovations qui ont prouvé leur supériorité à long terme pour améliorer la sécurité alimentaire et la nutrition dans la corne de l'Afrique.

Dr. Castro Camarada, Coordinateur FAO pour l'Afrique de l'Est explique en quoi le partage d'informations sur les bonnes pratiques agricoles est vital pour améliorer la sécurité alimentaire et la nutrition dans le région.

'Fair' Contacts

Mekdim Ketsela
Mekdim.Ketsela@fao.org

Ted Ogolla
Edward.Ogolla@fao.org

Leone
MagliocchettiLombi@fao.org

Comms team

Apollo Habtamu

Edward Ogolla

Liya Dejene

Lulu Hussen

Peter Ballantyne

Tigist Endashaw

Tsehay Gashaw

Zerihun Sewunet

Follow #sfhoafrica on the Internet

<http://sfhoafrica.wordpress.com/>

