Working Paper No. 5  Recruitment Resources in Europe: A List of Professional Organizations; Stella Mascarenhas-Keys and Sarah Ladbury; October 1993

Working Paper No. 6  Filipino Women Scientists: A Potential Recruitment Pool for International Agricultural Research Centers; ISNAR and PCARRD; October 1993

INTRODUCTION

These recruitment notes have been prepared as part of the CGIAR Gender Program's support to the international agricultural research centers of the CGIAR. They are designed to assist the centers' efforts to strengthen the recruitment of women professionals and scientists to international staff positions.

The need for the centers to strengthen mechanisms for reaching women in their recruitment exercises is evident in the fact that, in 1992, women accounted for only 8% of the pool of applicants for international staff positions in the CGIAR system. This is less than the proportion of women (12%) in international staff positions in 1991.

The notes provide information on a wide range of professional organizations and contacts which can assist centers in casting their recruitment nets more widely so as to exploit a larger and more diverse pool of potential applicants. The notes provide contact addresses, information on total membership, recruitment support services offered, and fees (based on 1993 information).

These notes serve as a supplement to the guideline paper on policies and practices for strengthening the recruitment of women for international staff positions at the centers:

RECRUITMENT RESOURCES IN EUROPE

Professional Organizations which will advertise CGIAR center vacancies for international staff positions

The following is a list of professional organizations in Europe which have indicated that they will advertise CGIAR center position announcements. The list, organized alphabetically, provides information on total membership, the number or percentage of women in the organization, services offered, and fees. An index of the organizations, listed by major disciplinary area, is provided at the back of the document.
