

Women and men in livestock production

Hiwot Desta, Wole Kinati, Biruk Alemu, Annet Mulema and Barbara Wieland

Women contribute significantly to food and nutritional security

Women and men are equally affected by zoonotic diseases, but have different risks given specific roles in livestock production

Trainings on livestock production should also targeting women

Women have comparable knowledge regarding animal diseases and should be actively involved in Animal health intervention activities