

This price bulletin was developed by researchers at IFPRI Malawi with the goal of providing clear and accurate information on the weekly variation of retail prices for selected agricultural commodities that are important for food security and nutrition in Malawi. The reports are intended as a resource for those interested in agricultural markets and food security in Malawi.

Highlights

- Average retail prices of chicken and goat decreased by 3 and 5 percent respectively during January 2021 while egg prices increased by 12 percent.
- Average retail prices of fresh chambo, fresh mlamba and fresh micheni decreased by 16 to 47 percent while prices for fresh usipa increased by 14 percent.
- Average retail prices of dried usipa, dried chambo and dried micheni increased by 13 to 42 percent while prices of dried mlamba decreased by 23 percent.

How data were collected

With financial support from the European Union, IFPRI Malawi began monitoring retail prices of selected legumes, roots and tubers, and non-maize cereals* in selected markets in January 2020. Currently, prices are collected from 44 markets across the country, with monitoring occurring once per week. Three monitors report prices from each market. Data is collected by means of automated short message service (SMS) with follow-ups made by telephone the next day if needed. The commodities monitored are being phased-in, starting with legumes, root crops and other cereals, and then expanding to include livestock products and fish by the end of March 2021. Note that the number of markets monitored vary by commodity because major markets are targeted in areas where these commodities are widely produced.

* daily retail prices for maize are available from our monthly maize market reports
