

RESOURCES

GENDER

IFPRI's mission is to provide research-based policy solutions to sustainably reduce poverty and end hunger and malnutrition. Recent open-access publications and websites address the role of gender, equity, and women's empowerment in shaping and improving food security and nutrition outcomes in developing countries. For links to these and other resources: www.ifpri.org/topic/gender

Gender Equality in Rural Africa: From Commitments to Outcomes

Agnes Quisumbing, Ruth Meizen-Dick, and Jemimah Njuki, eds.

DATE: 2019

The 2019 ReSAKSS Annual Trends and Outlook Report takes an in-depth look at gender in Africa, examining the intersections of gender and 1) context and institutions, 2) assets, 3) shocks and resilience, 4) livelihood strategies, 5) income and control of income, and 6) well-being.

Gender Equality: Women's Empowerment for Rural Revitalization in 2019 Global Food Policy Report

Agnes Quisumbing, Ruth Meizen-Dick, and Hazel Malapit

DATE: 2019

Achieving gender equity and women's empowerment is critical—both for its intrinsic value to women and girls and for achieving many Sustainable Development Goals and rural revitalization. This chapter examines how the reach-benefit-empower framework can promote real improvements in women's lives.

Can Women’s Self-Help Groups Improve Access to Information, Decision-Making, and Agricultural Practices? The Indian Case

Kalyani Raghunathan, Samyuktha Kannan, Agnes R. Quisumbing

DATE: 2019 JOURNAL: Agricultural Economics

Women’s participation in self-help groups in India is found to increase their access to information and their participation in some agricultural decisions, but has limited impact on agricultural practices or outcomes.

Women’s Land Rights as a Pathway to Poverty Reduction: Framework and Review of Available Evidence

Ruth Meinzen-Dick, Agnes Quisumbing, Cheryl Doss, and Sophie Theis

DATE: 2019 JOURNAL: Agricultural Systems

This evidence review examines links between women’s land rights and poverty reduction, including the relationships with women’s bargaining and decisionmaking power, natural resource management, and livelihoods. The evidence argues for strengthening women’s land rights.

Development of the Project-Level Women’s Empowerment in Agriculture Index (pro-WEAI)

Hazel Malapit, Agnes Quisumbing, Ruth Meinzen-Dick, Greg Seymour, Elena M. Martinez, Jessica Heckert, Deborah Rubin, Ana Vaz, Kathryn M. Yount, Gender Agriculture Assets Project Phase 2 (GAAP2) Study Team

DATE: 2019 JOURNAL: World Development

The pro-WEAI is a new tool designed to meet projects’ impact assessment needs to measure women’s empowerment. As described in this paper, the tool is mapped to three domains—intrinsic, instrumental, and collective agency—and is decomposable into sub-indices, indicators, and by population subgroup.

Is Women’s Empowerment a Pathway to Improving Child Nutrition Outcomes in a Nutrition-Sensitive Agriculture Program?: Evidence from a Randomized Controlled Trial in Burkina Faso

Jessica Heckert, Deanna K. Olney, Marie T. Ruel

DATE: 2019 JOURNAL: Social Science & Medicine

This evaluation of a nutrition- and gender-sensitive agriculture program provides the first evidence from a randomized controlled trial that women’s empowerment is a pathway by which a nutrition-sensitive program can improve child wasting.

Women in Agriculture and the Implications for Nutrition in Agriculture for Improved Nutrition: Seizing the Momentum

Hazel Malapit

DATE: 2019

What is women's role in agriculture, and how does their status affect the health and nutrition of their households? This chapter explores these relationships, highlighting the impacts of gender- and nutrition-sensitive agricultural programs and how interventions can be designed for better nutrition outcomes.

Agriculture, Nutrition, and Gender Linkages (ANGeL)

IFPRI

DATE: 2018

This brochure reviews outcomes from the ANGeL project, a 3-year initiative in Bangladesh that aimed to identify actions and investments to promote agricultural diversity, increase farm household income, improve nutrition, and empower women.

Flagship 6: Cross-Cutting Gender Research and Coordination

CGIAR Research Program on Policies, Institutions, and Markets (PIM)

DATE: 2018

This brochure presents PIM's cross-cutting gender research and coordination, along with recent findings and achievements of the flagship program.

Closing the Gender Gap in Agricultural Development

IFPRI

DATE: 2015

IFPRI's work over the years has helped to integrate gender into agricultural programs and policies, as well as the wider development agenda; these impacts are documented in this brochure.

Gender

www.ifpri.org/topic/gender

IFPRI collects data, tests models, and generates important findings on how gender relates to food and nutrition security, the gendered impacts of agricultural projects, power and resource allocation within households, and overall economic development.

Gender and Development Forum

www.gender.ifpri.info

This blog is a space to share news about publications, research tools, learning resources, events, and job openings in the field of gender and development, including agriculture, food and nutrition security, natural resource governance, rural livelihoods, and women's empowerment.

WEAI Resource Center

www.weai.ifpri.info

This site offers information about the Women's Empowerment in Agriculture Index (WEAI), how to calculate empowerment using quantitative WEAI surveys, WEAI-related publications, and more.

Gender, Climate Change, and Nutrition Integration Initiative (GCAN)

www.gcan.ifpri.info

The GCAN initiative aims to enhance understanding of the connections across climate, gender, and nutrition in order to build enhanced resilience, women's empowerment, and better nutrition outcomes.

The Gender Highlights from IFPRI newsletter shares IFPRI's gender research, including new publications and blogs from IFPRI authors, information about internal and external events, what we are reading, and gender in the news.

Sign up for the newsletter here: <http://eepurl.com/dCJXkz>

INTERNATIONAL FOOD POLICY RESEARCH INSTITUTE

A world free of hunger and malnutrition

1201 Eye Street, NW, Washington, DC 20005 USA

T. +1-202-862-5600 | F. +1-202-862-5606 | Email: ifpri@cgiar.org | www.ifpri.org | www.ifpri.info